

Chicago & North-Western Railway Company.

OFFICE OF THE GENERAL MANAGER.

Chicago, Ill., November 9th, 1893.

CIRCULAR NO. 63.

I desire to congratulate those officers and employes on whom has fallen the burden of handling the Company's passenger traffic during the World's Fair season on the success that has attended their efforts.

During the six months of the Fair the trains of the Company have brought into and taken out of the City of Chicago very nearly eight millions of people. This immense traffic has been handled without the loss of a single life and without an injury to a single passenger having occurred through the fault of the Company, its officers or employes. This is a record of which the Management is justly proud, and I am sorry that I am not able to thank in person each and every officer and employe for the efforts that they have put forth to insure the safe and proper handling of the traffic.

The President directs me to express to you his thanks for the service that you have rendered and to congratulate you on the results attained.
